

MIAN GI DA PIND

PRESIDENT MESSAGE

The word agriculture that I had learned comes from two Latin words Ager and Colere ager means field and colere means cultivation relating to soil including ploughing sowing harvesting of crops rearing and feeding of animals. Agriculture can be defined as An art a science and corporate business style.

Pakistan's agriculture segment comprises food fibre crops orchard and horticulture, dairy livestock forestry and fisheries.

Similarly Pakistan is the world's fourth largest producer of milk but the average yield per animal is very low.

Pakistan's key food crops are wheat rice maize oilseeds and sugarcane. Wheat which is vital to food security particularly in urban regions has little value addition until it is milled.

In Pakistan water wastage is high and people use antiquated techniques of flood irrigation in which losses of water are almost 50% to 60%.

Most farmers faced difficulties when they transport fruits and vegetables to market while vehicles are not particularly designed for transportation.

Farmers of Pakistan use traditional methods of farming in some provinces automation is increasing.

The supply of fertilizer seeds pesticide herbicide are substandard in Pakistan.

Agriculture productivity can be increased using modern technology and improvement in the existing technology.

Japan is currently standing at the agriculture 4.0 level while Pakistan is on the level 1.0.

At my closing statement Pakistan has tremendous opportunities to invest in to Soybean local Production as of Import Substitute.
